

Leye Adenle is the author of Easy Motion Tourist, which won the Prix Marianne in 2016. A contributor to the critically acclaimed anthologies, Lagos Noir and Sunshine Noir, he was also shortlisted for the 2017 CWA Short Story Dagger. The Beautiful Side of the Moon is his third novel.

It is just a regular day at the office until IT worker Osaretin finds a cryptic note on his desk that sends his day into overdrive, thrusting him into a frantic world of ruthless operatives, shape-shifting villains, portable time turners and futuristic landscapes.

Looming over this magical tale are the exploits of a father he barely knew. Osaretin has no choice but to come into his own. Armed with the promise of magical powers and a bunch of eccentric companions, Osaretin must defeat the rampaging forces that threaten all that he holds dear. But is Osaretin who they believe he is? Is he really The One?

The Beautiful Side of the Moon is a fantastical adventure filled with weird and wonderful characters, and richly-imagined landscapes. A flight of the imagination on every page.

“Leye Adenle has proved once again that he is the master of the uncanny and the bizarre. Here’s storytelling at its best—a story unlike any you’ve ever read, beautifully told. Prepare to be amazed.”
